

A CLEAN MEAT MARKET

Is Demanded by the Modern Public,
That's Why the

OLD DUTCH MARKET

And Its Policy of
Plate Glass Show Cases,
Cold Air, No Flies, No Dirt, No
Fingers on the Meats Is So Popular

AND THEN THE SAVINGS

TUESDAY'S SAVINGS

Special Extra Choice
Creamery Butter, lb. 31c

Picnic Shoulders, lb. 13c
Sliced Bacon, lb. 24c
Bean Pork (Dry Cure), lb. 10c
Pure Lard, lb. 12 1/2c
Compound, lb. 10c
Selected Fresh Eggs, doz. 23c
Millbrook Brand Fresh Eggs, extra selected and graded for weight and size; not excelled at any price; in sealed cartons, doz. 25c

GROCERY SPECIALS

Twilight String Beans, No. 2 can, fine quality, can. 8c
Wagner Baked Beans, No. 3 can, fine quality, can. 12c
Hunting Club Sardines, reg. can, standard quality, can. 7c
Kipper Herring, small can, standard quality, can. 8c

Another Carload of Fancy No. 1 New Potatoes

The same kind of potatoes at a little better price.
1/2 peck, 9c; 1/2 peck, 17c; per peck. 33c
Fresh Rippe Florida Tomatoes, lb. 8c; 2 lbs. 15c
Texas Bermuda Onions, 1/2 peck, 8c; 1/2 peck. 15c
Large, Juicy Lemons, per doz. 20c

OLD DUTCH MARKET, Inc.

930 La. Ave. N. W. 1632 North Capitol St.
8th and E Sts. S. E. 3420 Geo. Ave. N. W.
31st and M Sts. N. W. 1935 14th St. N. W.
7th and Q Sts. N. W. 7th and B Sts. N. E.
1111 H St. N. E. 3113 14th St. N. W.

The Market of Economy The Market of Cleanliness

DEATH PENALTY PAID BY GREEN

Negro Hanged at District Jail for Criminal Assault on Woman.

CROWDS SEEK ADMISSION

Five Hundred Women and Men Appeal to Superintendent to Witness Execution.

Not since the execution of Charles J. Guitau, Garfield's assassin, has the Washington public made such demand for admission cards to a hanging as in the case of Nathaniel Green, negro, who yesterday morning at the District Jail was executed for criminally assaulting a white woman last Christmas night.

Louis F. Zinkhan, superintendent of the District Jail, did not have the power under the law to permit the morbid public to witness the execution of Green, otherwise more than 500 men and women in all walks of life would have been present.

Gin and Cocaine.
Green, like all men of his race who pay the death penalty for the various crimes calling for capital punishment, attributed his downfall to two of the black man's worst enemies, "gin" and "cocaine." Before being led from the death cell to the gallows Green said he hoped his execution would be a warning to other young men of his race.

In the verminous of the veteran jail guard, it was a "good hanging"—that is to say, the event was held without a sickening scene of any sort. There was no creaking of the steps of the gallows as the convicted man, his spiritual adviser, and guard walked up and even when the trap was sprung not a sound issued other than a slight gurgle from the doomed man's throat.

At two minutes past 10 o'clock, Green was taken from the "death row," his hands strapped behind his back. It took just two minutes walk to the gallows. The negro's arms were held by two guards on the march to the trap.

Executioner Unknown.
The ropes connecting the trapdoor are known as the "blind" and the real. When both are pulled the trap is just the same, but only one actually pulls the trigger. The ropes quickly and guards who pull them from knowing which of the two sent the man to his death.

The gallows upon which Green was hanged has a record unequalled by any other in the United States. Including Green, thirty-one men have paid the death penalty upon it. Of the thirty-one hanged, Guitau was the most famous of all. Green was the second man hanged for criminally assaulting a white woman, the other being John Wesley Burley, who was hanged July 22, 1903.

Tony Milano was the next man for whom the gallows will be used. The Italian, who murdered little Harry Egan Smith, hanged next Friday, President Wilson sees fit to commute his sentence to life imprisonment or give him another respite. He was to have paid the gallows on Friday, but President Wilson gave him another week in which to make preparations for death.

Dr. Elmore C. Folkmar gave a lecture on the mysteries of sex-life before 100 women at the home of Mrs. Arthur J. Parsons, Eighteenth and R Streets Northwest, yesterday afternoon. Dr. Folkmar explained a method of child training which, if general, would strike a blow at "white slave" and kindred social evils.

She especially cautioned her hearers to beware of half-truths, of distorted truths and of fanciful or exaggerated teaching, which often lead the child to seek explanation outside its home.

"When shall you begin to teach your child the story of new life?" Dr. Folkmar continued. "When a child is old enough to think enough to ask a question, that child is old enough to receive a truthful answer."

Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Mrs. Archibald Hays, Miss Janet Richards, Dr. M. E. Abbott, and Mrs. Mattson were among Dr. Folkmar's audience. There were a score of women from Neighborhood House, from Grover Cleveland School, and from several city missions.

Mother of Two Wants Divorce

C. Luella Gardner yesterday filed suit for a limited divorce and alimony against Fred W. Gardner, said to be an employee of the War Department, receiving an annual salary of $1,000. Plaintiff alleges desertion and non-support. They were married in 1904 in Ogden, Iowa, and have two children.

CABARET SHOWS INJURE MORALS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE.

should be imposed upon proprietors who permit their employees to sell liquor to those under the legal age. The police should be represented at these places without protest from the proprietors or owners. The police should have the same control over undue hilarity there as they have in places of a similar kind, though frequented by patrons of a different social class.

"Uniformity of Police Attire, Equipment, and Statistics" was the subject of a paper presented by Wentworth E. Griffin, chief of police of Kansas City. Mr. Chief Griffin advocated the use of white gloves by policemen throughout the country. He told of the evolution of the police uniform, explaining that those used by the United States were designed for utility rather than for display.

JEWISH SHABOUTH TO BE CELEBRATED

Important Holiday in Jewish Calendar Will Be Observed in Synagogues Tonight.

The celebration of Shabouth, or the Feast of Weeks, one of the most important holidays of the Jewish religious calendar, will be celebrated tonight in local synagogues. Ancient Jewish tradition has associated with the Feast of Weeks, the giving of the ten commandments at Mount Sinai.

The ceremonies will be continued tomorrow morning at the Eighth Street Temple and in the synagogues of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, at which time confirmation will be administered to Jewish children. Flowers and floral decorations figure prominently in the exercises. Synagogues following an ancient custom are sometimes decorated with fresh green branches.

Ill Health Causes Suicide.

Ill health caused Abner T. Morgan, seventy-eight years old, to end his life early yesterday morning in the bathroom of his apartment at the Fortner, Pittsford and F Streets Northwest, by firing two shots through his mouth. Morgan was employed in the Coast and Geodetic Survey for years. He is survived by his wife, a son, and two daughters.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Shirley Beckman, 22, and George V. Madison, 22, Rev. S. T. Weaver.
Eugene J. Smith, 22, and Alice R. McCall, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Rev. Thomas E. McGuire.
Charles E. Green, 22, and Lena R. Dowden, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Robert L. Lucas, 22, and Sallie R. Rutten, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Andrew C. McDowell, 22, and Harriet V. Cook, 22, Rev. C. R. Nelson.
Andrew T. Sanderson, 22, and Dorothy Faith, 22, Rev. C. R. Nelson.
George Thomas Barrett, 22, and Lillian M. Beck, 22, Rev. Charles E. Pitzer.
Clude C. Tress, 22, of Kokomo, Ind., and Harriet H. Glass, 22, of Wheeling, W. Va., Rev. E. A. Dunlap.
William L. Edes, 22, of South Bethlehem, Pa., and Anna Grady, 22, Rev. C. R. Nelson.
Charles W. Schmitt, 22, and Martha E. Elzer, 22, both of Hagerstown, Md., Rev. R. H. Schneider.
Andrew Harrison, 22, and Grace G. Hendrix, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Joseph P. Britt, 22, and Mary A. McCracken, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Paul P. Pearson, 22, and Mary M. McGowan, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
George T. Howard, 22, and Margaret V. Walker, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Theodore Green, 22, and Edna M. Barnes, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Rev. Enoch M. Turner.
Eugene W. Proulx, 22, and Mary Carter, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Joseph C. Judge, 22, and S. B. Bunde, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
George A. Hayes, 22, of Oakland, Md., and Lucy E. McCarthy, 22, Rev. T. J. Kervick.
Abraham Leibsch, 22, and Rose Sherman, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
John A. Connor, 22, and Mary M. Rabe, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Frederick D. Gage, 22, and Ellen C. Gage, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Beverly H. Hamilton, 22, and Ethel M. Ryan, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Harry C. Wilson, 22, and Laura R. Dixon, 22, both of Harrisburg, Md., Rev. W. V. Malins.

COLORED

W. H. Chase, 22, and Mary E. King, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
W. G. Chase, 22, and Annie Lincoln, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
J. E. Burdman, 22, and Rosa Parker, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
J. A. Hickman, 22, and Alberta Ryan, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
J. E. Hawkins, 22, and Ursula W. Winston, 22, Rev. J. Collins.

J. J. Downey, chief of police of Detroit, Mich., delivered a paper on "Police Pensions and Retirement." He described the system now in operation in Detroit. He said that in many cities there was a vast difference in the amounts which private and which officers received. He said that this was unjust and unreasonable, and that the pension of the disabled private should be almost if not quite as great as that of the pensioned chief of police. He said it was the private who faced peril day after day, while the higher officials sat in safety in their easy chairs at headquarters.

There was much discussion from the floor following the presentation of the paper. Among those who spoke were Michael J. Regan, chief of police of Buffalo, N. Y.; William Copelan, chief of police of Cincinnati, Ohio; James M. Carr, chief of police of Cedar Rapids, Mich.; W. G. Austin, chief of police of Savannah, Ga.; and James L. Cantwell, chief of police of Charleston, S. C. They described the pension and retirement systems now in vogue in their respective cities. Chief Carr said Iowa had State-wide pension laws, the policemen paying a tax of 1 mill for the purpose of sustaining the fund. He explained that policemen serving twenty-two years were entitled to retirement on half pay. He said that the widow of a policeman killed in line of duty received $2 a month while she remained unmarried, children under sixteen years of age receiving $5 per month.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon President Wilson received 26 delegates at the White House. After the reception, motion pictures of the slayings and police chiefs were taken on the White House by Tom Moore, the local motion-picture manager. Later Maj. Sylvester posed for the machine in front of the Raleigh Hotel. The pictures will be shown at the Garden Theater the latter part of the week, beginning with the convention being extended a special invitation to attend. After the presentation of the pictures, the film will be given to Maj. Sylvester for the use of the department in the future.

Speaker Clark Talks.

The convention was called to order yesterday morning at 9 o'clock by Maj. Sylvester. Rev. C. Ernest Smith pronounced the invocation, after which an address of welcome was delivered by Commissioner John A. Johnston. Speaker Clark delivered a brief address.

The finger-print talk should be in the office of every police head in the world, he said. "Simplicity in operation, cheapness of cost, and accuracy of information commend it. Representative officials of the different German cities recently met in Berlin and agreed to eliminate the metric method, except for international use, and to adopt the dactyloscopic or finger-print method, which will eventually prevail throughout the world, may be the original combination and classification, but in one form of some kind."

Women and Police.
"There is no doubt about the ability of women to render important assistance in the multitudinous and unusual requirements of the police service of the times. The usefulness of the woman in the capacity of police matron for the search and care of women and juveniles has long since passed the experimental stage. In New York City, Los Angeles, and elsewhere, a sphere of criminal work has been found, wherein her talents and industry have entered into the solution of questions, and there are features pertaining to the moral conditions in many communities, for which woman's skill from a detective standpoint might be equally applied. This phase of the police work is not entirely new in the experience of this jurisdiction, and it will undoubtedly be furthered."

In the presentation of a paper, which was read by Mr. J. J. Downey, chief of police of Detroit, Mich., delivered a paper on "Police Pensions and Retirement." He described the system now in operation in Detroit. He said that in many cities there was a vast difference in the amounts which private and which officers received. He said that this was unjust and unreasonable, and that the pension of the disabled private should be almost if not quite as great as that of the pensioned chief of police. He said it was the private who faced peril day after day, while the higher officials sat in safety in their easy chairs at headquarters.

There was much discussion from the floor following the presentation of the paper. Among those who spoke were Michael J. Regan, chief of police of Buffalo, N. Y.; William Copelan, chief of police of Cincinnati, Ohio; James M. Carr, chief of police of Cedar Rapids, Mich.; W. G. Austin, chief of police of Savannah, Ga.; and James L. Cantwell, chief of police of Charleston, S. C. They described the pension and retirement systems now in vogue in their respective cities. Chief Carr said Iowa had State-wide pension laws, the policemen paying a tax of 1 mill for the purpose of sustaining the fund. He explained that policemen serving twenty-two years were entitled to retirement on half pay. He said that the widow of a policeman killed in line of duty received $2 a month while she remained unmarried, children under sixteen years of age receiving $5 per month.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon President Wilson received 26 delegates at the White House. After the reception, motion pictures of the slayings and police chiefs were taken on the White House by Tom Moore, the local motion-picture manager. Later Maj. Sylvester posed for the machine in front of the Raleigh Hotel. The pictures will be shown at the Garden Theater the latter part of the week, beginning with the convention being extended a special invitation to attend. After the presentation of the pictures, the film will be given to Maj. Sylvester for the use of the department in the future.

ANTONIO ZETTEL.

Prominent member of the exclusive Columbia Country Club in the vicinity of the National Capital, who is a great golf enthusiast, believing the game to be the most healthful of all kinds of sports. Mr. Zetzel is a wealthy retired capitalist, and for many years has been prominent in club and civic life in Washington.

CABARET SHOWS INJURE MORALS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE.

should be imposed upon proprietors who permit their employees to sell liquor to those under the legal age. The police should be represented at these places without protest from the proprietors or owners. The police should have the same control over undue hilarity there as they have in places of a similar kind, though frequented by patrons of a different social class.

"Uniformity of Police Attire, Equipment, and Statistics" was the subject of a paper presented by Wentworth E. Griffin, chief of police of Kansas City. Mr. Chief Griffin advocated the use of white gloves by policemen throughout the country. He told of the evolution of the police uniform, explaining that those used by the United States were designed for utility rather than for display.

JEWISH SHABOUTH TO BE CELEBRATED

Important Holiday in Jewish Calendar Will Be Observed in Synagogues Tonight.

The celebration of Shabouth, or the Feast of Weeks, one of the most important holidays of the Jewish religious calendar, will be celebrated tonight in local synagogues. Ancient Jewish tradition has associated with the Feast of Weeks, the giving of the ten commandments at Mount Sinai.

The ceremonies will be continued tomorrow morning at the Eighth Street Temple and in the synagogues of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, at which time confirmation will be administered to Jewish children. Flowers and floral decorations figure prominently in the exercises. Synagogues following an ancient custom are sometimes decorated with fresh green branches.

Ill Health Causes Suicide.

Ill health caused Abner T. Morgan, seventy-eight years old, to end his life early yesterday morning in the bathroom of his apartment at the Fortner, Pittsford and F Streets Northwest, by firing two shots through his mouth. Morgan was employed in the Coast and Geodetic Survey for years. He is survived by his wife, a son, and two daughters.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Shirley Beckman, 22, and George V. Madison, 22, Rev. S. T. Weaver.
Eugene J. Smith, 22, and Alice R. McCall, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Rev. Thomas E. McGuire.
Charles E. Green, 22, and Lena R. Dowden, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Robert L. Lucas, 22, and Sallie R. Rutten, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Andrew C. McDowell, 22, and Harriet V. Cook, 22, Rev. C. R. Nelson.
Andrew T. Sanderson, 22, and Dorothy Faith, 22, Rev. C. R. Nelson.
George Thomas Barrett, 22, and Lillian M. Beck, 22, Rev. Charles E. Pitzer.
Clude C. Tress, 22, of Kokomo, Ind., and Harriet H. Glass, 22, of Wheeling, W. Va., Rev. E. A. Dunlap.
William L. Edes, 22, of South Bethlehem, Pa., and Anna Grady, 22, Rev. C. R. Nelson.
Charles W. Schmitt, 22, and Martha E. Elzer, 22, both of Hagerstown, Md., Rev. R. H. Schneider.
Andrew Harrison, 22, and Grace G. Hendrix, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Joseph P. Britt, 22, and Mary A. McCracken, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Paul P. Pearson, 22, and Mary M. McGowan, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
George T. Howard, 22, and Margaret V. Walker, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Theodore Green, 22, and Edna M. Barnes, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Rev. Enoch M. Turner.
Eugene W. Proulx, 22, and Mary Carter, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Joseph C. Judge, 22, and S. B. Bunde, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
George A. Hayes, 22, of Oakland, Md., and Lucy E. McCarthy, 22, Rev. T. J. Kervick.
Abraham Leibsch, 22, and Rose Sherman, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
John A. Connor, 22, and Mary M. Rabe, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Frederick D. Gage, 22, and Ellen C. Gage, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Beverly H. Hamilton, 22, and Ethel M. Ryan, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Harry C. Wilson, 22, and Laura R. Dixon, 22, both of Harrisburg, Md., Rev. W. V. Malins.

COLORED

W. H. Chase, 22, and Mary E. King, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
W. G. Chase, 22, and Annie Lincoln, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
J. E. Burdman, 22, and Rosa Parker, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
J. A. Hickman, 22, and Alberta Ryan, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
J. E. Hawkins, 22, and Ursula W. Winston, 22, Rev. J. Collins.

J. J. Downey, chief of police of Detroit, Mich., delivered a paper on "Police Pensions and Retirement." He described the system now in operation in Detroit. He said that in many cities there was a vast difference in the amounts which private and which officers received. He said that this was unjust and unreasonable, and that the pension of the disabled private should be almost if not quite as great as that of the pensioned chief of police. He said it was the private who faced peril day after day, while the higher officials sat in safety in their easy chairs at headquarters.

There was much discussion from the floor following the presentation of the paper. Among those who spoke were Michael J. Regan, chief of police of Buffalo, N. Y.; William Copelan, chief of police of Cincinnati, Ohio; James M. Carr, chief of police of Cedar Rapids, Mich.; W. G. Austin, chief of police of Savannah, Ga.; and James L. Cantwell, chief of police of Charleston, S. C. They described the pension and retirement systems now in vogue in their respective cities. Chief Carr said Iowa had State-wide pension laws, the policemen paying a tax of 1 mill for the purpose of sustaining the fund. He explained that policemen serving twenty-two years were entitled to retirement on half pay. He said that the widow of a policeman killed in line of duty received $2 a month while she remained unmarried, children under sixteen years of age receiving $5 per month.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon President Wilson received 26 delegates at the White House. After the reception, motion pictures of the slayings and police chiefs were taken on the White House by Tom Moore, the local motion-picture manager. Later Maj. Sylvester posed for the machine in front of the Raleigh Hotel. The pictures will be shown at the Garden Theater the latter part of the week, beginning with the convention being extended a special invitation to attend. After the presentation of the pictures, the film will be given to Maj. Sylvester for the use of the department in the future.

Speaker Clark Talks.

The convention was called to order yesterday morning at 9 o'clock by Maj. Sylvester. Rev. C. Ernest Smith pronounced the invocation, after which an address of welcome was delivered by Commissioner John A. Johnston. Speaker Clark delivered a brief address.

The finger-print talk should be in the office of every police head in the world, he said. "Simplicity in operation, cheapness of cost, and accuracy of information commend it. Representative officials of the different German cities recently met in Berlin and agreed to eliminate the metric method, except for international use, and to adopt the dactyloscopic or finger-print method, which will eventually prevail throughout the world, may be the original combination and classification, but in one form of some kind."

Women and Police.
"There is no doubt about the ability of women to render important assistance in the multitudinous and unusual requirements of the police service of the times. The usefulness of the woman in the capacity of police matron for the search and care of women and juveniles has long since passed the experimental stage. In New York City, Los Angeles, and elsewhere, a sphere of criminal work has been found, wherein her talents and industry have entered into the solution of questions, and there are features pertaining to the moral conditions in many communities, for which woman's skill from a detective standpoint might be equally applied. This phase of the police work is not entirely new in the experience of this jurisdiction, and it will undoubtedly be furthered."

In the presentation of a paper, which was read by Mr. J. J. Downey, chief of police of Detroit, Mich., delivered a paper on "Police Pensions and Retirement." He described the system now in operation in Detroit. He said that in many cities there was a vast difference in the amounts which private and which officers received. He said that this was unjust and unreasonable, and that the pension of the disabled private should be almost if not quite as great as that of the pensioned chief of police. He said it was the private who faced peril day after day, while the higher officials sat in safety in their easy chairs at headquarters.

There was much discussion from the floor following the presentation of the paper. Among those who spoke were Michael J. Regan, chief of police of Buffalo, N. Y.; William Copelan, chief of police of Cincinnati, Ohio; James M. Carr, chief of police of Cedar Rapids, Mich.; W. G. Austin, chief of police of Savannah, Ga.; and James L. Cantwell, chief of police of Charleston, S. C. They described the pension and retirement systems now in vogue in their respective cities. Chief Carr said Iowa had State-wide pension laws, the policemen paying a tax of 1 mill for the purpose of sustaining the fund. He explained that policemen serving twenty-two years were entitled to retirement on half pay. He said that the widow of a policeman killed in line of duty received $2 a month while she remained unmarried, children under sixteen years of age receiving $5 per month.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon President Wilson received 26 delegates at the White House. After the reception, motion pictures of the slayings and police chiefs were taken on the White House by Tom Moore, the local motion-picture manager. Later Maj. Sylvester posed for the machine in front of the Raleigh Hotel. The pictures will be shown at the Garden Theater the latter part of the week, beginning with the convention being extended a special invitation to attend. After the presentation of the pictures, the film will be given to Maj. Sylvester for the use of the department in the future.

ANTONIO ZETTEL.

Prominent member of the exclusive Columbia Country Club in the vicinity of the National Capital, who is a great golf enthusiast, believing the game to be the most healthful of all kinds of sports. Mr. Zetzel is a wealthy retired capitalist, and for many years has been prominent in club and civic life in Washington.

CABARET SHOWS INJURE MORALS

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE.

should be imposed upon proprietors who permit their employees to sell liquor to those under the legal age. The police should be represented at these places without protest from the proprietors or owners. The police should have the same control over undue hilarity there as they have in places of a similar kind, though frequented by patrons of a different social class.

"Uniformity of Police Attire, Equipment, and Statistics" was the subject of a paper presented by Wentworth E. Griffin, chief of police of Kansas City. Mr. Chief Griffin advocated the use of white gloves by policemen throughout the country. He told of the evolution of the police uniform, explaining that those used by the United States were designed for utility rather than for display.

JEWISH SHABOUTH TO BE CELEBRATED

Important Holiday in Jewish Calendar Will Be Observed in Synagogues Tonight.

The celebration of Shabouth, or the Feast of Weeks, one of the most important holidays of the Jewish religious calendar, will be celebrated tonight in local synagogues. Ancient Jewish tradition has associated with the Feast of Weeks, the giving of the ten commandments at Mount Sinai.

The ceremonies will be continued tomorrow morning at the Eighth Street Temple and in the synagogues of the Washington Hebrew Congregation, at which time confirmation will be administered to Jewish children. Flowers and floral decorations figure prominently in the exercises. Synagogues following an ancient custom are sometimes decorated with fresh green branches.

Ill Health Causes Suicide.

Ill health caused Abner T. Morgan, seventy-eight years old, to end his life early yesterday morning in the bathroom of his apartment at the Fortner, Pittsford and F Streets Northwest, by firing two shots through his mouth. Morgan was employed in the Coast and Geodetic Survey for years. He is survived by his wife, a son, and two daughters.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Shirley Beckman, 22, and George V. Madison, 22, Rev. S. T. Weaver.
Eugene J. Smith, 22, and Alice R. McCall, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Rev. Thomas E. McGuire.
Charles E. Green, 22, and Lena R. Dowden, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Robert L. Lucas, 22, and Sallie R. Rutten, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Andrew C. McDowell, 22, and Harriet V. Cook, 22, Rev. C. R. Nelson.
Andrew T. Sanderson, 22, and Dorothy Faith, 22, Rev. C. R. Nelson.
George Thomas Barrett, 22, and Lillian M. Beck, 22, Rev. Charles E. Pitzer.
Clude C. Tress, 22, of Kokomo, Ind., and Harriet H. Glass, 22, of Wheeling, W. Va., Rev. E. A. Dunlap.
William L. Edes, 22, of South Bethlehem, Pa., and Anna Grady, 22, Rev. C. R. Nelson.
Charles W. Schmitt, 22, and Martha E. Elzer, 22, both of Hagerstown, Md., Rev. R. H. Schneider.
Andrew Harrison, 22, and Grace G. Hendrix, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Joseph P. Britt, 22, and Mary A. McCracken, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Paul P. Pearson, 22, and Mary M. McGowan, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
George T. Howard, 22, and Margaret V. Walker, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Theodore Green, 22, and Edna M. Barnes, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Rev. Enoch M. Turner.
Eugene W. Proulx, 22, and Mary Carter, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Joseph C. Judge, 22, and S. B. Bunde, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
George A. Hayes, 22, of Oakland, Md., and Lucy E. McCarthy, 22, Rev. T. J. Kervick.
Abraham Leibsch, 22, and Rose Sherman, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
John A. Connor, 22, and Mary M. Rabe, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Frederick D. Gage, 22, and Ellen C. Gage, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Beverly H. Hamilton, 22, and Ethel M. Ryan, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
Harry C. Wilson, 22, and Laura R. Dixon, 22, both of Harrisburg, Md., Rev. W. V. Malins.

COLORED

W. H. Chase, 22, and Mary E. King, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
W. G. Chase, 22, and Annie Lincoln, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
J. E. Burdman, 22, and Rosa Parker, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
J. A. Hickman, 22, and Alberta Ryan, 22, Rev. J. Collins.
J. E. Hawkins, 22, and Ursula W. Winston, 22, Rev. J. Collins.

J. J. Downey, chief of police of Detroit, Mich., delivered a paper on "Police Pensions and Retirement." He described the system now in operation in Detroit. He said that in many cities there was a vast difference in the amounts which private and which officers received. He said that this was unjust and unreasonable, and that the pension of the disabled private should be almost if not quite as great as that of the pensioned chief of police. He said it was the private who faced peril day after day, while the higher officials sat in safety in their easy chairs at headquarters.

There was much discussion from the floor following the presentation of the paper. Among those who spoke were Michael J. Regan, chief of police of Buffalo, N. Y.; William Copelan, chief of police of Cincinnati, Ohio; James M. Carr, chief of police of Cedar Rapids, Mich.; W. G. Austin, chief of police of Savannah, Ga.; and James L. Cantwell, chief of police of Charleston, S. C. They described the pension and retirement systems now in vogue in their respective cities. Chief Carr said Iowa had State-wide pension laws, the policemen paying a tax of 1 mill for the purpose of sustaining the fund. He explained that policemen serving twenty-two years were entitled to retirement on half pay. He said that the widow of a policeman killed in line of duty received $2 a month while she remained unmarried, children under sixteen years of age receiving $5 per month.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon President Wilson received 26 delegates at the White House. After the reception, motion pictures of the slayings and police chiefs were taken on the White House by Tom Moore, the local motion-picture manager. Later Maj. Sylvester posed for the machine in front of the Raleigh Hotel. The pictures will be shown at the Garden Theater the latter part of the week, beginning with the convention being extended a special invitation to attend. After the presentation of the pictures, the film will be given to Maj. Sylvester for the use of the department in the future.

Speaker Clark Talks.

The convention was called to order yesterday morning at 9 o'clock by Maj. Sylvester. Rev. C. Ernest Smith pronounced the invocation, after which an address of welcome was delivered by Commissioner John A. Johnston. Speaker Clark delivered a brief address.

The finger-print talk should be in the office of every police head in the world, he said. "Simplicity in operation, cheapness of cost, and accuracy of information commend it. Representative officials of the different German cities recently met in Berlin and agreed to eliminate the metric method, except for international use, and to adopt the dactyloscopic or finger-print method, which will eventually prevail throughout the world, may be the original combination and classification, but in one form of some kind."

Women and Police.
"There is no doubt about the ability of women to render important assistance in the multitudinous and unusual requirements of the police service of the times. The usefulness of the woman in the capacity of police matron for the